Organizations Individuals Back Bonds, Over-ride

Tuesday the voters go to the polls to decide on an $800,000 bond issue and a 50 cent, five year limit over-ride tax for the Carmel Unified School District.

The citizens' bond-tax committee has put on an intensive campaign to inform and persuade the taxpayers. They have distributed brochures, sent speakers to service clubs and other organizations to obtain endorsement, and provided The Pine Cone with statements from citizens whose opinions are respected.

The Right Rev. Monsignor Michael O'Connell, Carmel Mission: "We, the Catholic people, are in favor of the school bonds and over-ride tax as we feel the population is gaining in this area and additional teachers, classrooms and a new bus is necessary. The public schools belong to everyone. We urge each person to vote for the bonds."

The Reverend Joseph M. Ewing, Carmel Presbyterian Church: "Education is always a 'must' with free and intelligent people. The public schools are at the core of the American Way of Life and an asset of the highest priority. Greater Carmel, of all places, to be itself must maintain the very best possible system of education. The schools need our help. A 'yes' vote on the school bond issue is the way to do it now."

Dr. K. Fillmore Gray, The Church of the Wayfarer: "I hope that Carmel will vote the school bonds and tax, not because I think that certain frills will be added, but because I am convinced that these measures are absolutely necessary to enable Carmel schools to continue doing the basic job of education that we want done in Carmel."

Mayor John Chitwood: "This school bond election will be a reflection of our community's alertness to the necessity of expanding our school system to keep abreast of our steady population growth."

Geraldine Smith: "Our Carmel school district has the lowest tax rate of any district having a high school in the county. The proposed bond issue and over-ride tax will cost the average home-owner less than seven cents per day, and yet provide the classrooms we need and the funds to operate them. We must all vote 'yes' on both issues on April 22."

Fritz T. Wurzmann: "The benefit of adequate school facilities is of greatest importance to each American community. We in Carmel have to take care of our problem as a community enterprise by voting 'yes' in the coming school election."

Dr. Friedy B. Heisler: "In a sincere and serious plan to provide education for our young people which will lead them to knowledge and responsibility, let us older citizens seize the opportunity to express our responsibility, wisdom and privilege by voting favorably on the Carmel School bond issue and over-ride tax, to allow for the essential increase in classroom space, equipment and adequate number of qualified teachers. Let us do our part!"

Corum Jackson: "As a substantial property owner and real estate broker, I am wholeheartedly for the school bonds and over-ride tax. Good schools will protect our property values."

Mrs. Adrian Bennett: "We have more students than ever and the number is constantly increasing. We must provide classrooms and teachers to educate them. The bonds provide the rooms and equipment; the over-ride tax, the teachers. We must pass both on April 22."

Mrs. Mark Raggett: "A great deal has been said the past few months in all of the popular publications and newspapers about the American school systems. All feel that they have the answer, which is more advanced work for our students, with emphasis on the basic subjects. Examine the curriculum of our schools, especially our high school, and you will find that our schools have been offering this recommended program for some years already. Support the school bonds and over-ride tax so we may continue to give our children the education needed to meet the challenge of the future."

Peter Ferrante: "Schools need help now. Carmel is no exception. The need for more classrooms and planned expansion is urgent. Good teachers are a must. The proposed bonds and over-ride tax takes care of both. I have no children in school but I have a stake in every child. He needs a school he can work in. Let's help him!"

P. A. McCreery: "I have complete confidence in the board of trustees in asking that the bond and over-ride tax be adopted. I feel that the adult people of the community owe the children their support as the kids have given us plenty of support."

Captain Archer Allen: "I am in favor of the school bond and over-ride tax as I think it is urgently necessary for the proper development of school facilities."

Frank Putnam: "How many times we hear and how well we all know that Carmel is not just a Village, but rather it is a way of life. One of the richest phases of this way of life is the splendid educational advantages our youth have over those of many other communities. We must fight vigorously to maintain these educational advantages in the face of ever expanding population. The school bonds and the over-ride tax are a must at this time, lest we endanger that which we know and love as Carmel."

Gordon Campbell, school board chairman: "We must face the stark fact that we do not have space in our school rooms for the amazing increase in our student population; bond monies are urgently needed to obtain the necessary additional schoolrooms and the equipment for them. Tax funds are required to operate the facili-

Planning Board Pleased With AAA Sign Co-Operation

Carmel planners yesterday afternoon heard Commissioner Herbert Blanks read a letter from the American Automobile Association stating that this organization is willing to "consider" changing their nationally known AAA motel identification signs to conform with Carmel's proposed new sign ordinance. The AAA would like Carmel commissioners to specify what they want and will then ask their design department to endeavor to provide Carmel AAA endorsed motels with identification signs in keeping with the nature of Carmel.

"This is marvellous cooperation," said Commissioner Florence Josselyn.

Brightly colored enameled identification signs have bothered planning commissioners for some months. They prefer carved or painted wooden signs. The letter from the AAA gave commissioners encouragement to pursue control of materials in Carmel business district signs in the ordinance they are framing.

Planning commissioners yesterday afternoon in study session also considered plans for a 16 unit motel to be built by Arne Halle and Charles W. McEwen at Mission and Fifth Streets, and a 24 unit motel at Mission and Third Streets to be built by Richard Catlin. In both of these proposed developments they emphasized

3000 Here For All-day Music Fest

All day performances of the annual Music Festival of the Central Coast Counties start concurrently at 9:00 o'clock on Saturday morning in Sunset School Auditorium, Carmel High School gymnasium and music room. Vocal participants will perform at Sunset School, and bands and orchestras at the High School. Three thousand high school students will gather here to sing and play in the annual event sponsored by the Central Coast section of the California Music Educators branch of the Music Educators National Conference.

Dr. Karl Ernst, president of the national group and supervisor of music for the San Francisco Unified schools, will be assisted in judging the choral groups by Dr. Roy Freeburg of San Francisco State College.

Instrumental groups will be adjudicated by Edwin Kruth from San Francisco State College, Thomas Eagan, and Gibson Walters, San Jose State College, and Merton Carlyon of the Monterey County school system.

Carmel High's Boys' Glee Club will sing at Sunset at 11:00 o'clock in the morning. Carmel High Choir at 3:45 o'clock in the afternoon at Sunset and the band at 9:00 o'clock in the music room at the High School.

Valley Wildflower Festival Saturday

The fifth annual Carmel Valley Wildflower Festival is on Saturday when 1,000 varieties of wild flowers and plants will be on display in Tularcitos School Auditorium. At least 600 varieties are to be found in Carmel Valley. Clyde Robin, botanist and show advisor, has 40 collectors gathering flowers for the event. All blooms will be classified with both common and scientific names.

Mystery Plants will be displayed and the first person who correctly guesses the scientific names of these plants will receive a cash prize of $100. Seeds may also be obtained at the Wildflower Festival ranging from the seeds of tiny violets, through California poppies to seedlings of towering sequoias.

Both Senator Fred S. Farr and Assemblyman Alan Pattee, recognizing that the Wildflower Festival is the only show of its kind in the world, introduced resolutions honoring the event in the Senate and the Assembly.

"Resolved by the (State Assembly) of the State of California, that the Legislature takes this means to recognize that the Carmel Valley Wildflower Festival is one of California's unique shows and to urge the people of this State to attend the Festival and see the show . . ." was the wording of the two resolutions unanimously adopted by both houses.

Copies of the resolution were forwarded to the Festival committee of St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church, show sponsors.

LITTLE LEAGUE AND BABE RUTH LEAGUE PRACTICE THIS SATURDAY

Little League baseball prospects will report for practice at 9:00 o'clock this Saturday morning for the second tryout session of the 1958 season. Saturday's tryouts will be held at the Carmel Little League park which is located just below the Mission. All the Little League managers and coaches will be on hand Saturday morning to put the prospects through their paces. Candidates must have a copy of their birth certificate when they report for the tryouts. Little Leaguers may get their birth certificate photographed at the Camera Craft free of charge.

Sunday afternoon at 1:00 o'clock at El Estero Park, Babe Ruth League candidates will be put through a tryout session under the direction of Manager Jack Miller. Babe Ruth League players are in the 13-15 age group.

CARMEL MERCHANTS OPEN SUNSET FIELD SOFTBALL SEASON FRIDAY NIGHT

The Carmel Merchants Softball Club will host the Shirley's Engines of Seaside in the 1958 softball opener at Sunset Field this Friday night. Doubleheader action is slated for the opener with the first game set to get underway at 7:00 o'clock and the second game at 8:15. Manager Paul Artellan has selected Johnny DeAmaral to toss the first tilt with Paul Ricketson ready to go in the nightcap. The Merchant softball team is backed and sponsored by the following sports-minded Carmel merchants: The House That Jack Built, J. O. Handley, Kip's Meat Market, Boys' Town, Carl & Chan, Hudelson & Myers, Womble's Pharmacy, Cork n' Bottle, Carmel Sport Shop, Mission Cleaners, Borden's Dairy, Dale Leidig's Texaco, MP-TV, Golden State, and Sal Cardinale Distributors.

The Merchant nine is entered in the Pacific Grove A-Division League and will also enter the strong Tri-County League which includes top teams from Santa Cruz, Watsonville, Salinas, and the Peninsula.

BABE RUTH LEAGUE TRYOUTS

All Carmel boys who were born between September 1, 1942 and September 1, 1945 are urged to attend the first tryout for the Monterey Peninsula Babe Ruth League at El Estero Park Sunday at 1:00 p.m.

The Carmel team will be composed entirely of Carmel boys so a good turnout is hoped for Sunday afternoon.

TED SMITH LEADS PADRE TRACK SCORERS

Ted Smith, Carmel High's transfer student from King City, returned to his former school last Saturday for the King City Relays and when the husky speedster finished the day's competition he had established two new records for the Relays. The muscular blonde athlete shattered the broad-jump record with a leap of 22-3 and came right back in the pole-vault to soar 12-5 to add three more inches to the stick event. Ted's two firsts and third-place relays finish made him high point man for the Relays.

Host King City surprised the favored Salinas High squad by nipping the Cowboys for the team title. King City squeezed out 29 points, Salinas had 27, and third-place Carmel had 24. Other Padre point-gitters were Mike Raggett, 2nd 880; Frank Wallace, 2nd mile; Phil White 2nd pole-vault; and the third-place relay team of Smith, Raggett, Alf Anderson, and Tony Bingham.

Tuesday afternoon the Padre thinclads hosted the Gonzales Spartans in a dual meet which the Padres won by a wide margin. Ted Smith was again top scorer in this meet, winning the pole-vault, broad-jump, and low hurdles. Tony Bingham got a pair of firsts, winning the 100 and 220. Alf Anderson and Mike Raggett ran one-two in the quarter-mile, Art Wilkerson won the 880, and Pete Hanson walked away with the mile. Bill Hicks surprised the Gonzales platter-tossers by picking up the blue ribbon in the discus. In the lightweight division, Nick Vertin and Tom Collins set new school records in the high-jump and pole-vault. Collins won the high-jump with a leap of 5-7 while Vertin topped the pole-vaulters with a 10-3 jump.

The Carmel track team will be idle this week end due to the Music Festival but return to action at Salinas on March 24, meeting the Cowboys in a dual meet.

CIRCLING THE BASES

Manager Paul Artellan's Carmel Merchant softball team ran into some tough competition at the Soledad prison last Sunday and were edged in both ends of a doubleheader. The inmates clipped the outsiders, 6 to 4, in the morning tilt and came back in the afternoon to nose out the Merchants, 5 to 4. The Carmel pastimers report that Soledad is in the throes of a strong recruiting program and the softball material coming in is strictly AA class. Paul Ricketson toed the slab for the Merchants in the morning game, giving up 6 hits, striking out 9, and handing out 5 free passes. Paul helped his own cause along by connecting for a home run in the fourth heat. Jack McGaughey, classy Merchant first-baseman, also chipped in a four-master but the power still wasn't enough to get over the prisoners. John DeAmaral tossed them over in the second game and had a little control trouble but the little righthander is set for a good season . . . Carmel High varsity baseball team dropped decisions to Hollister and Monterey in the last two outings, bowing to the Haybalers, 8 to 5, and getting clobbered by Monterey, 11 to 4. Big innings by the opponents scuttled the Padres in both games, Hollister putting together a five-run third inning and Monterey batting around for 7 markers in a wild fourth. The Padres outhit Hollister 6-5 but walks and infield miscues led to the Red & Gray downfall. Dale Dawson's solid double was the big blow for Carmel, driving in two runs. Hollister's Jerry Grant hit a rousing triple against the centerfield fence to pace the Haybaler swingers. Tim O'Shea and Cim Conway shared the pitching duties at Hollister and both ran into fits of wildness which kept them in hot water for most of the game . . . Coach Pete Peletta's MPC nine opens the home league season this Saturday, meeting the strong East Contra Costa club in a doubleheader starting at 10:00 a.m. The Lobos breezed through a winning practice schedule but were clubbed by San Jose JC in their first league game at San Jose. Coach Peletta is high on his ace pitcher, Mickey Chapin, who is expected to lead the Lobos to some Coast JC victories . . . Gonzales High comes to Carmel this Friday for varsity and junior-varsity games starting at 4:00 o'clock. Coach Bud Guiterrez has an all-veteran team this season and is picked to finish near the top in B-division competition. In Joe Palacio, the Spartans have one of the top pitchers in the league. The little righthander has silenced the bats of the Salinas Cowboys and the Live Oak Acorns so far this season. The Gonzales jayvees will tackle Coach Dan Yurkovich's frosh-soph squad in the first league action for either team. The Little Padres have beaten Palma and Robert Louis Stevenson but were blanked by the classy Monterey Jayvee unit . . . Village baseball fans rooting hard for San Francisco Giants in last Tuesday's opener at San Francisco were Ivan and Jimmy Kelsey and Little League President, Bill Woolsey. President Woolsey comes by his Giant partisanship naturally, having lived close by the Polo Grounds when the Giants were in New York.

Three Organizations Sponsor Craft Fair

A Craft Fair at Su Vecino, May 22 through May 25, will be sponsored by Soroptomist International of the Monterey Peninsula, the Carmel Lions Club and Carmel Foundation. The creative crafts of all kinds to be displayed will be for sale with the money given in full to participating craftsmen.

Purpose of the Craft Fair is to encourage senior craftsmen on the peninsula to create in all mediums: wood, metal, plastic, mosaic, ceramics, weaving, sewing, knitting, toys, rugs, puppets, lamps, etc. Peninsula residents aged 50 or over are eligible to enter their work. Applications will be mailed free on request or may be obtained in any Peninsula library. Further information will be given by the chairman of the Soroptomist service committee, Mrs. Ruth Sarett, MA 4-3150 or by writing her at Carmel Foundation, Box 3424, Carmel.

Special private showings to give buyers and shop owners an opportunity to place orders will be arranged during the Craft Faid and the public will be invited to attend.

Although the Craft Fair is planned to aid senior craftsmen in finding a market for their work, special exceptions as to age will be made for younger homebound or handicapped persons whose articles will be picked up and returned if desired.

Hunter & Turrell Open Office Here

Hunter & Turrell, San Francisco investment counsel firm, announces the opening of a Carmel office, under the direction of Arthur L. Dahl.

The firm was established in 1937 and has grown steadily, until today it is one of the best-known organizations of its kind in the Bay Area, and has clients in many parts of the United States. It offers a complete service for the continuous management of investment accounts, with emphasis on close attention to the individual needs of each client.

Dahl was one of the firm's original partners, and was a member for 16 years until he moved his wife and four boys to Pebble Beach in 1955. He is a graduate of Stanford and the Stanford Graduate School of Business, a member of the Security Analysts of San Francisco, and a Trustee of the Robert Louis Stevenson School. He is also a member of the Beach Club and the Monterey Peninsula Country Club.

The Carmel office of Hunter & Turrell is at Wall Street Lane, near Sixth and Dolores. The telephones are MA 4-1277 (office) and MA 4-1232 (residence). The San Francisco office is in the Equitable Building, 120 Montgomery Street.

These Boys Weren't Afraid To Get Their Feet Wet

Local lads who joined forces with out-of-town high school youths to fight a raging Carmel River flood on the evening of April 3 were alerted by Carmel High School junior Dennis Peavey. Those who turned out to fill and place sandbags in an attempt to save Mission Fields from inundation were, besides Peavey, John Williams, Harrison Hilbert, David Jensen, Ted Balestreri, Ted Smith, Jeff Smith, Dave Rude, Ronny Leidig, Ronny Hinchcliff, Phil Durbrow, Sam Farr, Dale Dawson, Pat Harney, John Morse, Doug McClurg, Peter Rice, Norman Colman, Dave Vincent, Mike Dunham, Ade Bennett, Parker Pollock, Craig Smith, John Ley, Joe Mason, Michael Nesbitt, Pete Osborne, George Crispo, Mike Bein, Mike Raggett, and Phil O'Shea.

The Carmel High School boys spent the late evening and early morning hours working in heavy rains which included a cloudburst. Out of town teenagers, here for Easter Week vacation, joined in the fight and letters praising their help have been sent by Mayor John Chitwood to superintendents of schools in Oakland, Piedmont and Berkeley. The Carmel High School Student Body has expressed their appreciation in letters to the editors of Bay Area newspapers.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel MA 4-3881.

Music And Dance . . .

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

The Monterey County Symphony's fourth and last pair of concerts of this season were strong evidence of the orchestra's development this year. It is becoming an ensemble that ranks with the best civic orchestras anywhere and along with all the other musical activity will go far to establish the Peninsula as a musical center.

Gregory Millar undoubtedly benefited from his recent guest-conducting of the Pittsburgh Symphony which afforded him an inspiring opportunity in conducting a larger professional organization, for his directing Monday took on stature of technical control that served him well in building up the more passionate episodes, and richly deserved the applause of the orchestra personnel, as well as that of the audience which enthusiastically called and called him back. It was a moment of great satisfaction to all who have labored loyally for the artistic whole, and Millar clearly showed his appreciation of the personal tribute and his earnest devotion to an ever-evolving ideal.

There were those who heard rehearsals of the Bartok Concerto who thought the work too strange harmonically for a general audience, but compared to Stravinsky's Rites of Spring, the concerto is not a harsh cacophony. The lyric lines of the brilliantly beautiful themes on the violin played by Anahid Ajemian rang out over the twelve-toned harmony with an exuberant flow that immediately showed the reason for the renown this young artist has already won. With some repeated hearing the forms clear out and become quite fascinating. Ajemian's youth and beauty and particularly her flexible wrist and arm were a joy to observe while hearing her vibrant tones. Such flexibility in bowing and perfect intonation of double stopping in the cadenza was of a brilliancy rarely, if ever, heard. We predict Ajemian on her way to world fame — and also conductor Millar for these two musicians are today far above most concert artists.

Hunt and Storm from Les Troyens by Berlioz, a fine example of orchestral painting, was graphically rendered. The excellent horn playing of Joseph Axup and Rudd Crawford received acknowledgement from Millar. But it was in the second Brahms Symphony, comprising the second half of the program, that the greatest accomplishment of conductor and players took place. Its pastoral yet profound character drew forth in the four movements, with Millar's incentive, some of the most scholarly and strongest playing of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra. In the second movement, the work of the strings, headed by first violinist Francesco Mazzi, and cellos led by Robert Grant, was outstandingly fine.

Considering growth in audiences and everything else, it has been so far, the most successful season of The Monterey County Symphony Orchestra.

The Spring Festival of Dance was presented by Dorothy Dean at Sunset Auditorium Saturday and Sunday. It was composed of the students of Miss Dean's Dance Studio in Monterey who demonstrated the work-shop in exhibitions of fundamental, technical steps and artistic grouping, and the value of dance study for flexibility and poise of movement. A large number of small children, as well as sixteen senior dancers, created various formations to the music of Herbert, Mozart, Coates, Stravinsky, Balakerieff, Hachmann and others, played in the wings by Loretta Gysin and Ernest Tweedy.

The simplicity and joy of the tiny tots in their romping round in various costumes was charming, particularly in the group called Nymphs, where one little headdress caught on to another's and was freed with the poise of an old stager! Many of the costumes, as well as the hard tie-up of the hair, seemed somewhat old and overdressed for children, though the older group in their last dance would have looked better with more dressing. Some who had been seen before, such as Roberta Tabeta and Akemi Ito showed some advanced development as dancers, and will probably appear in the Civic Ballet Performance Dorothy Dean has planned for the Forest Theatre on May 2 and 3 with Alexander Sawicka as guest artist. The Dean choreography was necessarily not complicated—or the tap-dancing figures of Frank Bourman and the audience of Saturday evening seemed greatly to enjoy it all, especially the small, unselfconscious children. Stage management was good and without hitch. Costumes and lighting were in the hands of Carol Hurlbet and James McIntyre.

At request of the Salinas Junior Woman's Club I attended a press preview of a final dress rehearsal of their musical revue called, Wish Me Luck, at the Salinas Union High School to be given April 17, 18 and 19. I was unable to remain for all of it, but what I saw and heard was varied amateur talent making quite a show of dancing groups, costumes, acting and singing in unrelated scenes to raise a benefit fund for school needs. Its participants were doing it with zest and is a good looking company, worth seeing.

Mrs. Miyamoto

Mrs. Hatsu Miyamoto died in a local hospital on April 10 after a period of failing health. She was born in Kumamoto-Ken, Japan, on February 18, 1893. At the age of 20 she came to the United States to marry Kumahiko Miyamoto, and the couple established their home just south of Carmel on the original Mission Ranch homesite. Mrs. Miyamoto and her husband grew vegetables and strawberries on the land, raised five stalwart sons known for their exceptional athletic prowess, achieved a position of respect in the community, and made many friends. One of the most enjoyable aspects of life in Carmel before World War II was buying vegetables at the Miyamoto ranch and experiencing the friendly interest which Mrs. Miyamoto took in all her customers and their families.

During the war years Mrs. Miyamoto and her husband had to leave their ranch, and on their return, established a home and farm in Carmel Valley. All of Mrs. Miyamoto's sons served in the United States' armed forces during the hostilities.

Survivors are Mrs. Miyamoto's husband and her five sons, Archie Y. Miyamoto of Pacific Grove, Ky T. and H. Miyamoto of Monterey and Maya and Gordon Miyamoto of Carmel Valley; a brother, Tsuzuki Kato, and a sister, Mrs. Yaye Kai, both of Kumamoto-ken, Japan; and 13 grandchildren.

Funeral services were held on Monday evening in the Japanese-American Citizens' League Hall in Monterey with the Reverend Shawshew Sako of the Buddhist Church of Salinas officiating. Further services were held on Tuesday morning in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea Crematorium.

Dorney and Farlinger Memorial Chapel was in charge of arrangements.

Danger River, the Charles Eggert Adventurama production which is a sequel to Canyon Voyage, will be shown by the National Parks Association at Sunset School on Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock.

In the wide-screen film, with stereophonic sound, Mr. Eggert shows what it is like to travel down the Colorado River through the Grand Canyon. There are shots of Deer Creek Falls cascading over the Canyon rim, Havasu Creek and the Little Colorado River, besides the reactions of those descending the Colorado rapids in boats.

Charles Eggert is Director of Motion Pictures for the National Parks Association. Last year he showed his Canyon Voyage film here.

Valona Brewer

Mrs. Valona Brewer died on April 5 in a Salinas hospital after a period of failing health. For over 20 years Mrs. Brewer lived in Carmel and taught violin. One of her talented pupils is at present studying on a scholarship at the Curtis Institute in Philadelphia.

She began her teaching career in Chicago, then decided to take advanced study for a degree at the London School of Music. She received top honors and was first violinist with the school's orchestra during her years in England. After returning to the United States, Mrs. Brewer taught in the Normal School in Natchitoches, Louisiana, then came to California. She discovered Carmel, which she immediately loved, and lived here until the latter part of her life when she moved to Monterey. She was one of the early members of the Musical Arts Club, took a thoughtful interest in politics and was known for her sense of humor and love of animals.

She is survived by a niece, Miss Dorothy Pearse of Arlington, Virginia.

Funeral services were held on Saturday afternoon in the Mission Mortuary with the Reverend Charles Burrill of Carmel officiating. Inurnment followed at the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea Crematorium.

CALIFORNIA
ROADSIDE COUNCIL
San Francisco, Calif.
April 7, 1958

Monterey County
Planning Commission,
Salinas, California.
Gentlemen:

Our attention has been called to the fact that a variance has been allowed on the Carmel-San Simeon Highway for a large sign advertising resorts in the Big Sur area. We realize that in some instances such a variance is justified in the interest of motorists' convenience and we feel sure that your action has been carefully considered.

At the same time, we wish to express the hope that such a precedent will not lead to any multiplicity of such signs. The zoning of the Carmel-San Simeon Highway with a view to its scenic quality has served as a model in all such localities. It would be a pity if the high standard of good appearance and preservation of natural beauty were to be lowered by the granting of variances which are not absolutely necessary.

Very sincerely yours,
C. Zook Sutton,
President.

WHAT'S DOING

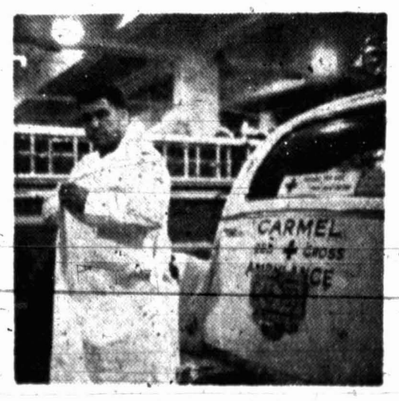

D. D. Muir, your Telephone Manager in Carmel

Why are these two phone men having such a hard time opening that metal box? You can blame it on corrosion. It can rust or crack even tough metals, and here it has sealed the box shut. Phone wires from your house are connected to a box like this. But this one, in a special test, was exposed to wind, fog and ocean spray. We use these tests to learn new facts about corrosion. We also test to find metals that can resist it, yet are economical. By controlling this and other destroyers, we save thousands of dollars worth of equipment each year—and make your service still more reliable.

On any occasion, a kitchen phone in color makes a gift that's sure to please. With Mother's Day coming up on Sunday, May 11, you'll want to keep this in mind. For here's a gift that'll save her time and steps all year long. And she'll take pride in the beauty a color phone adds to her kitchen. Choose from seven eye-appealing colors: ivory, moss green, cherry red, pastel yellow, light gray, light beige, white. Cost, after a single installation charge: $1 a month. So call your telephone business office today.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

An interesting phase of the last war, and one which is not too well understood, is the extent to which aerial photography was used by both sides. Constance Babington-Smith was a member of the Woman's Auxiliary Air Force, and was engaged in intelligence work. Her book, Air Spy, tells of her experiences and of the great part played in the war by the photo intelligence.

Another we-done-it book is Journey from the Arctic by Donald Brown. Before the war he planned to take a long journey by horseback, not for any reason except the fact that he had a joy in such travel and loved horses. It was after the war that the journey finally took place. It started in the artic and ended on the southern tip of Norway. Living off the country as they went, loving the wild and lonely places they traveled through, Donald Brown and his friend enjoyed a memorable trip. The book is also memorable. It is a quiet, easy book and one you will enjoy reading.

A Family Affair is a novel about a family and the rise in the family business by a young man who married one of the daughters. It's all very close and personal in the telling. Marrying into the business is not always the pledge of an easy life, and many of the hardships are revealed in this readable book. A Family Affair was written by Roger Eddy.

Another good new novel which was written from personal experience is entitled Doctor Tom, and Peter Wingate is the man who wrote it. The author is a doctor who has practiced in Africa, and so is his character Doctor Tom. The reader receives a realistic picture of the life of a medical man in the jungles of East Africa, with a nice romance to keep the whole thing interesting.

Anyone familiar with the outdoor photography of the magazine House Beautiful will welcome a book on gardens published by this worthwhile periodical. The title is The House Beautiful Book of Gardens and Outdoor Living, and that just about sums up the book. One valuable section is devoted to gardens without waiting, the quick ones you can create to make your home beautiful while you formulate long range plans and execute them. Another is for giving the old garden a face lifting, and still another for the housing development type of garden. They are all here. This book should provide the broad shoulder upon which you may weep away your gardening problems.

In 1951 Par Lagerkvist was awarded the Nobel Prize for Literature. That was the year his novel Barabbas was published in this country. This year Random House has brought out his latest novel, a story of deep philosophical undertones which is entitled The Sibyl. It is laid in the ancient days of the Delphic oracle. The reading of this book is a rich experience.

There are two new mysteries, one by Roger Manvell, and the other by Selwyn Jepson. Are either of these writers favorites of yours?

S. F. Musical Art String Quartet To Play Here Sunday

The Chamber Music Society of Carmel announces that it will present the Musical Art String Quartet of San Francisco, Sunday afternoon at 5:00 o'clock, at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre.

The players of this ensemble are members of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, and the first violinist, Francesco Mazzi is also Concert Master of the Monterey [illegible] Symphony. He studied with Adolfo Betti, former first violinist of the Flonzaley Quartet. Besides giving recitals in France, Italy and America, he has played in several outstanding musical organizations.

The second violinist, Ezequiel Amador, was born in Peru, studied and concertized in South America, Europe, and the United States. He studied with Louis Persinger and Naoum Blinder, winning a scholarship under the latter at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music.

Asbjorn Finess, the viola player, was principal violist of the National Theater in Oslo, and of the Norwegian Broadcasting Orchestra. Also, he was a teacher at the Oslo Conservatory of Music, and violist of the Norwegian String Quartet.

The cellist of the group is Robert Grant, who has been with the San Francisco Symphony for eleven years. He is also principal cellist with the San Francisco Little Symphony, and formerly played with the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra. He is first cellist for the Monterey County Symphony.

4 Bedrooms, 2 Baths, Near Schools & Beach

This almost new house is excellent for a large or growing family. It's located on a level, corner lot within easy walking distance of River School, the Mission, and the Beach. It has shake roof, carpeting, GE kitchen, large family room.

Sketching In Hawaii..

By E. Cashion MacLennan

PART II

A visit to the Bishop Museum in Honolulu was illuminating, finding there the artifacts of early Hawaiian life; weapons, tools, and domestic handicrafts depicted with miniature figures in native settings; also figures of the ancient gods and some guarding temple posts which I hope to use in some future composition. In the patio garden I came upon a replica of the "Cannibal God" rearing up among luxurious foliage. Before it a live Hawaiian gardener on his knees was pruning the ferns and shrubbery. This I sketched in considerable detail, later painted and exhibited.

The Academy of Fine Arts is an imposing building with beautiful tropically planted courts. It contains a good collection of French Impressionistic paintings, but, at the time of my visit, none of the work of the Hawaiian artists, which I was anxious to see. I wondered if the local artists did not feel like producing because of too much "poi", or because of the relaxing climate, or because they were surfeited with the beauty to be seen and absorbed everywhere. Fortunately, we were invited to visit Madge Tennent in Honolulu whose work has been exhibited in Europe as well as in the United States. She has a very fine gallery, which will ultimately become the property of the Province of Hawaii. In it is hung much of her work, including portraits of some of the Hawaiian royalty and many compositions of Hawaiian girls done in the impressionistic manner. All are more than life size, as Madge Tennent says Hawaiians are a large people in more than one sense; they are not only large physically, some weighing between three and four hundred pounds, but also spiritually.

We enjoyed a visit with John Young, whose work is known in California. He exhibited not long ago at the Santa Barbara Museum of Art. He, also, has a gallery, connected with his art supply store. His work is quite modern in manner and point of view.

Leaving Oahu temporarily we flew to the Island of Hawaii and made our headquarters in the village of Kailua at the Kona Palms, in a one-story thatched cottage surrounded by a lovely tropical garden having a swimming pool, and where a mongoose or two occasionally came peeping out at us in the evening from the shrubbery. Through a gate in the wall and passing under a weird Sausage Tree, we could enter the garden of a little stone church founded about 1820 by some Boston missionaries. We attended services there, naively conducted by an elderly native Hawaiian woman. The choir was composed of a score of white-surpliced youngsters ranging in age from about seven to fourteen, their skins varying in color from black through brown to white. On one festive occasion the garden was gay with young girls and women bringing colored leaves to decorate the church. Painting a group of these in this lively and colorful scene was a "must" for me, and the girls loved being sketched.

Oliver, our driver and guide about the island was a native Hawaiian, the father of six children. He was well built, weighing about two hundred pounds. Saturday and Sunday evenings he played the "bull fiddle" in a small orchestra at the Kona Pines Inn. At his urging we went to watch him perform and were surprised to see him leave before the program was over. Soon afterwards, a stout bronze figure appeared, stripped to the waist and wearing a grass skirt and a native palm leaf hat. It was Oliver! He smiled slyly at us and then very solemnly and in finished style danced a hula! And that was one sketch I would like to have had which I did not get! I was too flabbergasted!

A Chinese restaurant facing the little harbor of Kailua, at Kona, was recommended to us for its excellent food. Going there one evening, as we opened the door of the restaurant we were met by a babble of tongues, the full spectrum of colors, and a potpourri of exotic odors. We entered and found ourselves in what might have been a bit of the Far East, the room was filled almost to overflowing with young and old of many races and colors. Truly a setting for a Kipling ballad! The air was hot and close, the noise terrific, but the food was excellent!

The little village of Kailua, the former home of Hawaiian royalty, has a distinctive, native atmosphere, and I enjoyed wandering through it and visiting its little shops. Already several artists have discovered it and have opened studios there.

Much of the Island of Hawaii is covered with decomposed lava and on it a luxurious vegetation is growing. There are, however, great stretches, grey and black, where recent lava flows have covered the land. Yet, even in these places, between the lava blocks, wherever a little dust has gathered, or out of some charred log or root, lichens, wild flowers and ferns are finding a foothold. In my water color, "New Life From Old" I have tried to show this resurgence.

I didn't get as many sketches on the Island of Hawaii as I had hoped. (I'll be going back for more soon) There was so much to be enjoyed. In addition to the lava beds there were the ohia trees with their weird grey-green foliage and brilliant pom-pom flowers; hibiscus, lantana, ginger, and orchids growing wild along the road; the immense Kileauea Crater; the tremendous Fern-tree Forest, some of the ferns growing to a height of forty feet; Black Sands Beach; picturesque small towns, amongst them Hoopuloa of which I managed to get a sketch and since have put into more permanent form; the orchid gardens; the spectacular hedges of Ti and Croton plants at Hilo; Rainbow Falls sweeping over a lava ledge into a lava bowl banked with bougainvillea — purple, white, pink, and yellow, and the blossoms of many other tropical plants and shrubs. These are but a few of the many scenes that distracted me and kept me from doing anything but just "drinking them in."

Beverly Wood Wed Saturday

Easter lilies, mingled with pink and white stock, decorated the altar of the Church of the Wayfarer on Saturday afternoon when Beverly Anne Wood of Carmel was married to James Deane Freeman of San Francisco in a 3:00 o'clock ceremony performed by Dr. K. Fillmore Gray. Bouquets of pink and white stock tied with white satin ribbons, marking the pew ends, repeated the pink and white color motif of the wedding. As the guests assembled, John W. Farr sang Because and The Lord's Prayer while the bridal couple knelt at the altar. Beverly chose April 12 for her wedding day because her grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown of Carmel, had been married on that date sixty-six years ago.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Vernon Davis Wood of Hollywood. Deep tucks extending into cap sleeves and framing a boat neckline defined the bodice of her floor length white peau de soie sheath gown which had a chapel train. Pearls and rhinestones formed the dainty coronet which held her white elbow length tulle illusion veil in place, and she carried a spider arrangement of pink elfie roses and white bouvardia.

Shirley Johnson of Carmel, Carmel High School and Stephens College classmate of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Darlene Freeman of Hayward, the groom's sister, and Mrs. Frank Kelly of San Francisco, who attended Stephens College and the University of Southern California with the bride and was a member of her sorority, Alpha Omicron Pi.

The attendants were dressed alike in pale pink taffeta gowns, styled with basque bodices from which fell cocktail length tulip skirts, caught up at the front hemline with bows of pink taffeta. Their hats were circles of stiffened pink tulle, topped with a bow. Deep pink roses and pink carnations were used in their crescent bouquets. Their shoes matched their dresses.

Best man for the groom was his brother, Vernon Freeman of Turlock, and the ushers were Carl Burger of San Francisco, Wynn Hoskins of Daly City and George Nale of San Francisco, Sigma Pi fraternity brothers of the groom.

Mrs. Janice Brown Wood of Carmel attended her daughter's wedding in a cafe au lait lace sheath dress with matching hat and accessories. Her white carnation corsage was pinned at the waistline.

Mrs. Ernest Freeman of Turlock accompanied her husband to their son's marriage. She wore a French blue lace gown with a pale pink hat and a shoulder corsage of pink carnations.

The reception following the wedding was held in the Garden Room of the Mark Thomas Inn. White bouvardia adorned the top of the four-tiered, pillared wedding cake which was surrounded with a wreath arrangement of pink and white carnations and maiden hair fern. Pink and white tulle bags of rice tied with satin ribbons were distributed to the guests who showered the bride and groom as they left on a flying honeymoon to Phoenix and Las Vegas.

For her travelling outfit, the bride chose a deep coral lightweight wool suit, a white cloche hat and black patent leather shoes and bag, and a beige cashmere coat.

On their return they will live in San Francisco at 1409 Masonic Street. The bride is at present employed in the reservations office of American Airlines in San Francisco. Her husband attended San Jose State College before serving with the Navy for two years. He is now associated with Bancroft, Whitney, law book publishing firm in San Francisco.

May Fellowship Day

The Monterey Peninsula United Church Women will observe annual May Fellowship Day on May 2 at St. Mary's Church in Pacific Grove. A Place To Live is the theme of the meeting. Dr. Frank Laubach will be the speaker.

Mrs. Arthur Marshall, president, will direct a business session at 11:30 o'clock in the morning. Lunch will be served at 12:30 o'clock. Reservations should be in the office at St. Mary's by April 29.

The afternoon program starts at 1:30 o'clock and is in charge of Mrs. Harry Jones.

Home From Mexico

Loyola Fourtane has returned to Carmel after a month's trip by car through Mexico starting with a journey down the east coast of the Gulf of California to Mazatlan and San Blas in the tropics, then inland to Guadalajara, Guanajuato and Monterrey, on into Texas and four days on the Gulf of Mexico coast.

In Guanajuato she stayed with Manuel and Felicitas Valenzuela at their charming Posada de la Presa.

"Manuel is as full of charm and buoyancy as when he lived in Carmel," she reports," and Felicitas as lovely as ever. They wanted to know about their Carmel friends and the village." (The Valenzuelas lived here for some years when Manuel was manager of the Carmel branch of Gump's).

"Anyone planning to stay with the Valenzuelas should telephone them from Guadalajara," advises Loyola Fourtane as their posada is very popular and often filled to capacity. Mrs. Fourtane was charmed with the quaint atmosphere of the Valenzuelas' inn, which has all modern comforts, and is situated on one of the most picturesque streets in Guanajuato, a city of winding thoroughfares like the south of France or Moorish cities in Spain. Everything used in the posada is handcrafted, "and Felicitas serves wonderful meals and Manuel is ready to answer all questions about his native land."

Audubon Scholarship Open

Applications for the 1958 Audubon Camp scholarship, sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society, should be made in writing to Mrs. James Moody, Scholarship Chairman, Box 3014, Carmel, before May 1. Age and the applicant's connection with youth work should be stated.

The Audubon Summer Camp is at Norden in the Sierra. The Sugar Bowl Lodge is used to house those attending each of the five two-week sessions. Instruction covers birds, plants, mammals, insects, soil and water, and their interrelationships. No textbooks are used and no "homework" is required. An Audubon Camp certificate is given upon satisfactory completion of the course for teachers and youth leaders.

Mona Williams Main Speaker

Last Saturday evening Mona Williams discussed short story writing as the featured speaker at the California Writers Club fourth annual conference held in the Hotel Claremont in Berkeley. Other Carmelites present at the three day writers' meetings were Nelo Drizari and Mrs. Nora McCaffrey Law.

Louis And Dora Meyer Here

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Meyer (Dora Hagemeyer) ended eight months of round the world travelling when they arrived in Carmel last week. Mr. Meyer leaves soon for Washington, D.C. but Mrs. Meyer will remain here for three months then join her husband in Fishkill, New York.

In Europe the Meyers visited Germany, Switzerland and Italy. In Munich they attended a performance of Twelfth Night in German and the Buchner concert at the dedication ceremonies of the Fraunenkirschen. They stayed near the Vatican in Rome, saw the Pope bless the people and attended services in St. Peter's Cathedral. In Naples Mr. and Mrs. Meyer concentrated on visiting art galleries.

They next sailed through the Mediterranean and the Suez Canal to India. In Bombay Mr. and Mrs. Meyer had dinner with Shantikumar Morarjee whom Mrs. Meyer had previously met in Carmel. Visits to the Taj Mahal, Mahatma Ghandi's tomb and the temples of Jaipur were included in their two-and-a-half weeks' stay in India as well as a trip up the Ganges from Benares. They also stopped in Calcutta and Madras before leaving for Australia where Mrs. Meyer introduced her husband to her relatives there. In New Zealand Mr. and Mrs. Meyer visited Mrs. Meyer's mother, Mrs. J. H. G. Chapple.

They returned home on the new ship Himalaya stopping in Fiji, Honolulu and Vancouver, British Columbia. On their trip from Vancouver to San Francisco the Meyers experienced being tossed about by a severe storm at sea. When their ship arrived in San Francisco she was met by helicopters and fireboats to honor her maiden voyage.

Dr. Albert Schweitzer, a lifelong friend of Mr. Meyer's, re-married Mr. and Mrs. Meyer in a religious ceremony in Germany. They had been married in New York in a civil ceremony before leaving on their journey abroad. Meeting Dr. Schweitzer was a highlight of Mrs. Meyer's trip. Another vivid impression she received was in India where "poverty . . . poverty . . . poverty" struck her most forcibly.

Sayonara Set To Sail

Fred Dodd, commodore of the Stillwater Yacht Club, leaves for Newport Beach a week from Monday to take possession of his new sailing sloop, the Sayonara. The boat is 36 feet long, designed by Lapworth, with a 31 horsepower Gray auxiliary gas engine. Mark Raggett is the Carmel member of the crew accompanying Commodore Dodd to Newport to help him sail the Sayonara up the coast to her home port at Stillwater Cove at Pebble Beach.

They Won With Sail And Paddle

"A fight for survival" is George B. Yates' description of his hour-and-a-half crossing of San Francisco Bay in an eight foot Toro class sailboat on Saturday. He and Mark Raggett loaded their tiny craft on top of cars and drove to the Bay area on Friday the day before the annual El Toro Race. The rules of the race across the bay from Marin to the St. Francis Yacht Club are unique, explains Mr. Yates. Paddles may be used as auxiliary power to sails "at all times except the first five minutes before the starting gun." Carmel's contenders, both in the Toro race for the first time, sailed and paddled to place in the top third of the 86 boat entry list. Mark Raggett came in twenty-sixth and George Yates, thirty-second.

"They served us Irish coffee when we landed at the St. Francis Yacht Club, and we needed it," says Mr. Yates.

Archers Gave Dinner Dance

Mr. and Mrs. Shreve McLaren Archer Jr. combined a housewarming for their new Seventeen Mile Drive home with a farewell party for Dr. and Mrs. Edmund W. von Hasseln on Tuesday night. Invited to say goodbye to the von Hasseins before they leave next week for Europe and to dine and dance in the Archers new home were Mr. and Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Gara, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Osborne, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Gardiner, Mr. and Mrs. Jean Pierre Kunstle, Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Richard VanderSluis, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mack, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hately Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Colden Whitman, Mrs. J. Robert Thomas Makes Four

Lieutenant and Mrs. Richard C. Berg have four children, two boys and two girls, since the birth of Robert Thomas at the Peninsula Community Hospital on April 7. Robert's sisters are Nancy, "almost five," and Patty, one and a half years old. His brother Ricky is three.

Lieutenant Berg is studying aeronautical engineering at the US Naval Postgraduate School. He brought his family to Carmel last August and expects to remain here until a year from this August. Grandparents of Robert are Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Berg, all of Duluth, Minnesota.

Scouts Visit City Hall

Mayor John S. Chitwood and City Clerk Larry Rose greeted Girl Scout Troop 46 at the city hall last Thursday afternoon. Mr. Rose invited the girls to sit in the council seats while he described city government and elections. The scouts were fulfilling requirements for first class rank in citizenship under their leaders Mrs. Ernest Gatcombe and Mrs. Fred Mowrey. Troop members are Susanne Gatcombe, Christine Bagley, Marilyn Cole, Diena Farr, Judy Miles, Ruth Ameil, Jennifer Jones, Patricia Lewis, Karen Mowrey, Ann Woodward and Andrea Wurzmann.

This week Troop 46 is distributing a special election edition of the Carmel High School newspaper to residents of the school district.

Arriolas Move In Storm

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Arriola moved into the Hooper house at the corner of Camino Real and Thirteenth Streets during the wind and rain of the first week in April. The first night in their newly purchased home was that of the worst storm and a tree limb falling on their bedroom roof awakened them. Now the sun is out Mrs. Arriola is busy working in her garden, delighted with her new home and the fact that she, her son Carlin, and Mr. Arriola, who draws the Gordo comic strip, have really made themselves permanent residents of Carmel.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The spiritual relationship of God and man will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Doctrine of Atonement."

Scriptural selections to be read include the following from John (17:1, 20, 21): "These words spoke Jesus, and lifted up his eyes to heaven, and said, Father, the hour is come; glorify thy Son, that thy Son also may glorify thee: . . . Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their word; That they all may be one; as thou, father, art in me, and I in thee, that they also may be one in us: that the world may believe that thou hast sent me."

Readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (336:25-26): "God, the divine Principle of man, and man in God's likeness are inseparable, harmonious, and eternal."

The Time Has Come .

By Kippy Stuart

Frequently I am asked what the title of this column means? Why "The Time Has Come?" My response is always the same: Because it is a nonsense column, making no claim to erudition, just fun with a small bit of information stuck in here and there. In the old book, Alice in Wonderland, there is a nonsense fellow, the Walrus;

"The Time Has Come,
The Walrus said
To speak of many things;
Of ships and shoes and sealing wax
Of cabbages and Kings."

There have been many quotations from this poem, such as O. Henry's famous story, Cabbages and Kings, and I like to think of my Walrus as the inspiration for my own nonsense.

Some plants are like sulky humans. The more care you give them the more they balk. Many years ago, a friend and I bought two one gallon cans of identical plants, Chinese toyons. My friend stuck her plant away up there on a hill top, with no care and no attention. My plant was installed in a strategic spot in my garden, supposed to be ideal for this particular shrub. The years rolled on. My friend's Chinese toyon waxed healthy and bloomed its head off. Mine just sat and sulked with not a flower to be seen. I spent the afternoon recently at this friend's house and marvelled at the galaxy of blooms literally covering her Chinese toyon. I vowed then and there I was going home and discard my own toyon. Now this sounds like a "Who Done It," and I was on my way home to get even with this fellow who refused to respond to my love and care. What to my wondering eyes should appear! As I walked into my garden, there was my sulky Chinese toyon, blooming its own head off. I can't swear to it, but I feel sure that when I left my home that tree did not have one single flower. You figure it out!

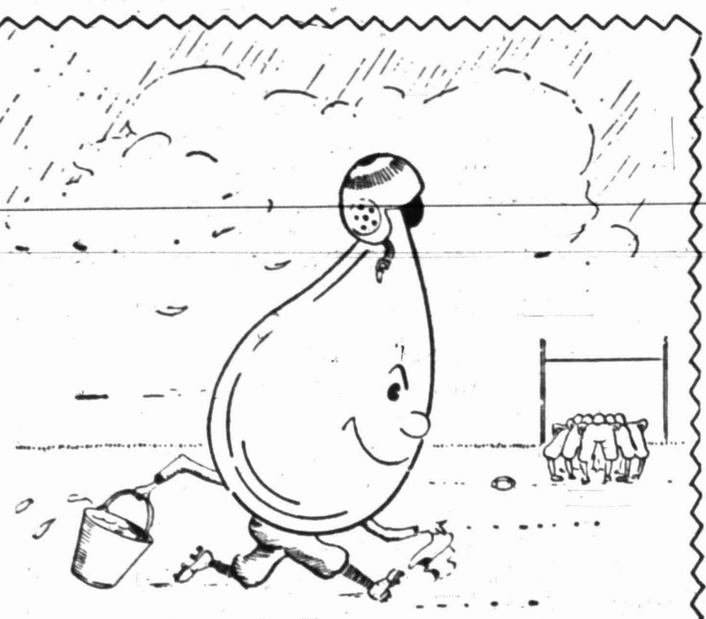

It is time to install those regal Pacific strain Delphiniums in the gardens. I have just bought four dozen, and I installed them in a few days before our recent deluge. The poor little things just sank into the mud and now I am fresh out of dephiniums again. I'm on my way to purchase more, for the summer garden needs these long blooming plants that give such grace and color to our gardens.

Thank all the Pine Cone friends who called me last week in reference to non-smelling fish emulsion. It is my pleasure to answer any questions connected with this column in the Pine Cone.

WATER BOY

Out on the football field, when the team captain calls for a time out, all eyes turn to the water boy and the precious cargo he carries. The players know and appreciate that a drink of water, more than anything, is the best refresher and sustainer.

The amount of water consumed by a football team during one game is infinitesmal compared with the hourly amount of water we supply to all our customers. Nevertheless, whether it is consumed in great or small quantities, you can always be sure that you are getting the safest, purest water available anywhere.

New Council Takes Office But Still Looks Familiar

Tuesday the city council met to canvass the vote of the April 8 election, count absent ballots — 32 of them—pay honor to retiring councilman Carl Patnude, and dissolve.

City Clerk Larry Rose swore in John Chitwood for his third term, and Gunnar Norberg for his first, and assembled the new council, which looked exactly like the old council except that Gunnar Norberg sat in Carl Patnude's chair.

Nobody even tried to appear surprised when the council asked Mr. Chitwood to continue as mayor, and Mr. Norberg to take over Mr. Patnude's fire commissionership.

It was accomplished in an hour, including the absent ballot counting, and the only excitement was a box of candy from "a feminine admirer of Mr. Patnude." Mr. Patnude passed around the candy.

Before it retired into history, the old council paid tribute to Carl Patnude, a level-headed, hard-working, easy-to-get-along-with councilman who didn't want to serve a second term. City Clerk Rose read a resolution which commended Mr. Patnude for his "valuable services" as a councilman and a citizen, his "unselfish giving of time and effort" and specifically for "improvements in the fire department facilities, training and morale during the time he has served as fire commissioner" and "his devotion and valuable service to the community with the Red Cross Ambulance in meeting emergency calls."

Absent ballots: Chitwood, 23; Norberg, 15; Nielsen, 9; Campbell, 5; Hazdovac, 6. Election final count: Chitwood, 996; Norberg, 566; Nielsen, 480; Campbell, 365; Hazdovac, 273; Benson 48; Write ins: F. Whitaker, 3; Pon Chung, 1.

Right to work: Yes 28; No 3; final: Yes 878; No 442.

Organizations Individuals Endorse School Bond Issue

ties acquired by the bonds, and to purchase a bus, and land for school expansion while such land is still available at reasonable prices. There is no way to sidestep what we need and the need is now."

School District Superintendent Stuart Mitchell: "The staff, board, and parents of the school district make this request in all earnestness yet in humility at this time of minor depression. There is no other choice as to time, the Valley annexation having caused delay to the last minute. The Valley, however, will now help.

"The record shows our community may have faith in Carmel schools. They have maintained a superior program and results, construction costs have been the lowest on the Peninsula, taxes have been the lowest in the county for any district with a high school. This request is reasonable and help is urgently needed. Please vote for us on April 22."

Organizations which have endorsed the bonds and over-ride tax: The Carmel Rotary Club, The Carmel and Carmel Valley Ministers, Carmel Board of Realtors, Carmel Business Association, Carmel American Legion Post 512, The Carmelo School Board and the Tularcitos School Board.

Planning Board Pleased With Signs

enough open space should be left for tree planting or retention, and that long narrow strip planting does not permit trees as does concentrated open space in one location. They regarded unfavorably the proposal of Walter J. Fremier to extend an office addition to the property line of his Cheerful Tortoise motel on San Carlos Street.

Also suggested yesterday afternoon was "automatic zoning" of all property deeded to the city, definite action to be taken later in regular session.

STUDENTS WIN HONORS

Three students from Carmel High School won honors at Monterey College's Honor Day Saturday, Bob Marshall, Julie Sargant, and Marilyn Reid. Marshall took first in the Math - Engineering competition and won a $100 scholarship, gold key, and award certificate. Miss Sargant placed second in the Home Economics field, winning a $50 scholarship, silver key, and award certificate. Miss Reid won an Honorable Mention, bronze key, and award certificate when she placed fourth in the Art competion.

BRENDA WINS CONTEST

Brenda Buerger's slogan, Vote Today, Results Tomorrow, won top place yesterday in the contest to establish a theme for the bond and tax election issue of the Carmel High School newspaper The Padre. Ken Mastin took second place with Vote Now, Benefits Later.

Brenda and Ken will be awarded prizes donated by Boys' Town and Putnam and Raggett. The issue of The Padre devoted to Tuesday's election will be published on Friday.

The winning slogans were selected by a committee composed of students and faculty members. The contest was sponsored by the adult committee in charge of publicity for the $8000,000 bond and 50 cent over-ride tax election in the Carmel Unified School District.

CLEAN-UP BEE

Sparked by the original idea of Veronica Taylor over 200 hundred Carmel High School students spent Sunday afternoon cleaning storm debris off Carmel Beach. Veronica's clean-up suggestion was approved first by the Carmel High student council which obtained permission from the city council for students to collect and burn the unsightly litter left on the beach by storms during the first week of April.

By sunset the students had cleaned the beach and enjoyed a picnic around a blazing fire.

Ingham To Run For Re-Election To Co. School Board

Arthur B. Ingham has filed his candidacy for membership on the County Board of Education, from Trustee Area No. 1, the area consisting of Carmel, Monterey and Pacific Grove school districts. He was elected to the Board two years ago and is now its chairman.

Mrs. Everett Smith of Carmel Highlands announced her candidacy for the same post in the March 20 issue of the Pine Cone.

Mr. Ingham was a school administrator in Pacific Grove for some 30 years and it was he who organized the first public summer high school in the state. His pioneering work in this field was accepted as a standard throughout the state and now there are many such schools dotting California. He firmly believes that, in areas of suitable climatic summer conditions, summer schools should be available to students who want to accelerate their educational progress.

When Mr. Ingham was elected Executive Secretary of the California High School Athletic Association, there was no uniform provision for the care of injuries received by the high school athletes in their interschool contests. Parents were, in most cases, called upon to bear the financial burden for such injuries. The Federated Council of the High School Athletic Association called upon Mr. Ingham to organize and put into operation a non-profit benefit and relief fund, the function of which would be to pay the necessary medical and hospital bills of pupils injured while taking part in school contests. The plan was eagerly accepted by California High Schools. After the success of the Athletic Fund was definitely established, The Federated Council again called upon Mr. Ingham, this time to organize a fund for the protection of all pupils against school incurred injuries. He then set about securing state legislation which permitted school districts to pay for such coverage. California's "Pupil Protection Fund" has served as a model and has been copied by the other states.

In recognition of his efforts in behalf of school athletics, the Helm's Athletic Foundation has enrolled Mr. Ingham's name in the Helm's Foundation Hall of Fame. In 1952 the California High School Athletic Association sent him to the Olympic Games in Finland and the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations, named him as its delegate from the United States to the Games.

Mr. Ingham states that if re-elected to membership on the County Board of Education, he will continue to give his best efforts to the work of the Board.

Lindsay-Oliver Poetry Pleases Audience

Miss Mary Lindsay-Oliver, honored guest at the Booklovers Club which met at the Town House on Monday, read some of the vast collection of her own poetry.

The audience was not only charmed but amazed at the tremendous scope of her poetic muse which ranged from poems on the universe to poems on outer space. It is easily understood why the predictions of her Scottish tutors early pointed to a literary career.

Her poems are strong yet delicate, forceful yet gentle, and above all show an ability to mold and shape the English language into heights of beauty and rhythm.

Mary Lndsay - Oliver possesses many talented gifts of which poetry is but one brilliant facet. The realms of composer, teacher, critic, writer, and artist have all been studied and mastered by this petite and charming Scotswoman.—J.J.C.
